EXPROPRIATION BILL: Status update on the progress of the Expropriation Bill before the NCOP

On 7 February 2024, the National Council of Provinces (NCOP) Select Committee on Public Service and Administration, Public Works and Infrastructure (DPWI) convened to consider the proposed amendments to the Expropriation Bill (C-List).

The Parliamentary Legal Advisor presented the Select Committee's proposed amendments.

The provinces have been afforded the opportunity to amend their Final Mandates following the amendments implemented by the approved C-List.

The NCOP will meet on 21 February 2024 to enable the provinces to submit their Final Mandates and vote on the Expropriation Bill.

In the event the NCOP approves the Expropriation Bill, with at least 5 of the 9 provinces voting in favour of the Expropriation Bill, then it will be returned to the National Assembly to consider the amendments made by the NCOP.

If the National Assembly approves the amendments as proposed by the NCOP then the Expropriation Bill will be handed over to the President to sign into law or to be referred to the Constitutional Court for a declaratory order.

The members can watch the meeting scheduled for 21 February 2024 here <https://www.youtube.com/@ParliamentofRSA>

If the National Assembly does not agree with the amendments then the Bill will be referred for mediation between the two houses and if a compromise cannot be reached and less than two-thirds of the National Assembly are not in favour of the Bill then the Bill will lapse in 30 days.

The Expropriation Bill is with the two houses of Parliament for consideration. Both houses of Parliament have considered the presentations by the public via the public participation process and there is currently no opportunity for the public to participate in the process.
